

Pulse Point Canada's Professional Responder Coaching Program

What does it mean to be a Professional Responder Coach?

A Professional Responder Coach (P.R. Coach) is a former first responder or emergency medical responder student who will assist* the Instructor in the delivery of training to Pulse Point Canada Professional Responder Students. P.R. Coaches aide the instructor by providing additional guidance to students as they learn new skills and classroom material.

We currently have over 30 P.R. Coaches.

* PR Coaches are not Instructors and do not have the authority to grade or certify students

How to become a P.R. Coach?

P.R. Coaches must be Pulse Point Canada Students who have successfully completed the First Responder BLS Course or the Emergency Medical Responder BLS course.

A minimum grade of 90% is required for either the First Responder BLS or Emergency Medical Responder BLS Course to become a P.R. Coach.

Benefits of becoming a P.R. Coach

Once accepted into the P.R. Coach Program and after participating as a P.R. Coach 3 times, P.R. Coaches may list Pulse Point Canada on their resume under the volunteer experience section. P.R. Coaches may also use the EMR Instructor, or any other member of the Pulse Point Canada team (with permission) as a reference.

These benefits are exclusive to registered Professional Responder Coaches ONLY.
